Michele Calderigi has over 20 years' experience helping businesses manage their human resource needs. As a strategic partner to corporate executives, she has helped companies achieve results with human resource planning and program development. Michele specializes in Human Resource Strategy, Executive Recruiting and Retention Strategy, Employee Relations and Career Coaching.

Michele is able to leverage her years as a corporate human resource executive for both multi-state and multi-national corporations. She has served industries such as technology, entertainment, retail, logistics, distribution and financial services. This enables her to understand those issues that can plague an organization and therefore provide the guidance to the desired results.
