Tom Henschel has been coaching senior corporate leaders for more than 30 years in companies like Amazon, Disney, Dole, HP, KONE, Netflix, Toyota and Warner Bros.

He's known for helping executives achieve The Look & Sound of Leadership, which is also the name of his long-running podcast, currently ranked in the top 1% of most popular podcasts globally.

Originally trained as a classical actor at The Juilliard School, Tom made his living as an actor in more than 100 plays and episodes of TV. He provides pro bono coaching to rising women leaders through Women in Animation and The Women's Impact Alliance.

Tom's most important achievement has been raising his two daughters, now adults, for whom he has the deepest love.
